Domiciliary Physiotherapy Service

The Domiciliary Physiotherapy Service provides comprehensive assessments, physiotherapy treatment and advice for elderly people who have been referred to our service by GPs and other healthcare professionals.

We can treat you in your own home or in the residential home or nursing home where you live.

What do we do?

Physiotherapists help you to regain your physical abilities or make the best use of impaired abilities you might have because of disease or injury.

Therapy is aimed at achieving goals that you and your Physiotherapist will agree following an assessment. These goals will be recorded in your treatment plan.

How do we do this?

We assess your physical condition and then work with you using various techniques to treat your symptoms. This usually involves putting together a personal exercise plan that meets your specific needs.

We give you advice on how to self-manage your symptoms to maximise your abilities and help you to live as independently as possible.

How do you get help from our service?

The Domiciliary Physiotherapy Service is mainly for housebound patients or for patients who are best treated at home.

You can be referred to our service by your GP or other healthcare professionals such as nurses or the social care team.

We work with other healthcare professionals such as District Nurses and Social Care teams to make sure you get the treatment you need.

What treatment will I be given?

Your treatment may include:

- Exercises and advice on self-management
- Advice on how to prevent falls
- Acupuncture
- Ultrasound therapy
- Advice about and provision of walking aids.

What happens when the Physiotherapist stops visiting?

As well as discussing your treatment plan with you and talking through the exercises to ensure you understand what to do, the Physiotherapist will leave written instructions for you to keep and details of how to contact them if you need to.

If you continue with the exercises the Physiotherapist gives you, they may help to stop your health problems getting worse.

Your Physiotherapist will discuss with you when you are ready to be discharged from the service.

“The physiotherapist was extremely pleasant and very confident and I felt much better for the treatment after each session.”
